EXPORT TRADE SHOWS GAINS, CARGO SPACE INSUFFICIENT

Boats To European Ports All Booked To Capacity

"HURRY" DEMAND

Prices Satisfactory If Delivery Is Immediate

BY DAVID ARAKIE
(Financial Editor)

There is a silver lining to every cloud.

During the past few weeks there has been a perceptible improvement for the better in the state of the export trade. Almost all the cargo boats for Europe have been loading very large quantities of sesamum seeds, groundnuts and beans, not only from Shanghai but from Tsingtau and Hankow. Exporting firms have found it extremely difficult to obtain space on outgoing boats for near shipment. Tonnage for shipment in March and April can be procured, but it is a matter of great difficulty to get space for this month or next, as shipments are going forward in large bulk.

These big shipments are expected to continue up till next month, and large orders received this week from Northern Europe for China products, where prices quoted have been better than in previous weeks, are still hanging fire as the European buyers demand prompt shipment. The space offered by shipping companies is below the exporter's smallest requirements. Some lines are kind enough to give the Shanghai merchant, say, about a hundred to two hundred tons space for sesamum seeds. This is not sufficient for a modest shipment, for they are exported in quantities of 400 to 500 tons.

READY TO PAY

It is indeed a peculiar situation. Previously, it was the case of prices in Shanghai and other centers in China not coming up to the buyer's ideas. Now the consumers are ready to pay these prices and, in fact, a little more—with one condition—that the products will be shipped immediately. From October 1 till the end of November about 30,000 piculs of sesamum seeds were shipped to Europe, while in December the exports mounted up to 100,000 piculs, and this half-month the estimated export is put down at about 50,000 piculs, the equivalent of about 10,000 tons.

The average yearly export from Shanghai of sesamum seeds is about 30,000 tons, and it is usually up till March that a brisk export demand sets in this market. Throughout this and next month there will be very large shipments of this product, for which space already has been booked. It would appear that a scarcity exists on the Continent at the present moment.

There are some six lines which cater to the North European trade. For Trieste, the Lloyd Triestino has its liners leaving here once every month and it is difficult for exporters to secure space until next month. As regards the N.Y.K., the O.S.K., the Holland-Asia, the Hamburg-America, Glen Line, Hugo Stinnes, and the Blue Funnel, which have boats plying to Hamburg, Rotterdam and Antwerp once a month from Shanghai, most of the vessels have already had their Shanghai space booked.

USED IN MARGARINE

European buyers crush sesamum seeds, which go into the making of magarine. In pre-war times Germany bought large quantities of the oil extracted from these seeds for use in the manufacture of magarine. Austria, the Netherlands and Germany all had enactments which ecmpelled the manufacturers to use at least forty percent of sesamum seed oil in the making of margarine. Presumably this feverish demand for sesamum seeds might denote a scarcity in supplies.

For all seeds and oils the Shanghai market is advancing. There is a good deal of speculative buying in the local market, some British hongs having bought large quantities of sesamum seeds this week at Tls. 7.30 per picul, equivalent to £23 c.i.f. Hamburg or Rotterdam. The quotation in Europe is only £21.10, or £22 per ton the utmost, a difference of a pound sterling per ton. Stocks

BY J. L. BUTTS

According to Mme. Chang Tsang-sz, Mme. Kau Waung-sz is not only a snare for the feet of the unwary, but a rampant menace to peace, good order and possessors of property—allegations which Mme. Kau designates as unwarranted libel.

Mme. Chang's story, as retailed to the Assessor and Magistrate, begins with her setting out to do the day's marketing. She was tripping along Peking Road, she avers, with the requisite number of coppers to exchange for a brace of cabbages and a rasher of pork knotted into her handkerchief when Mme. Kau plucked her by the sleeve. Mme. Chang halted and made polite inquiry as to the reason for this. Mme. Kau replied in saccharine flavored tones that she had been observing Mme. Chang for some time and had thereby become convinced that the latter was the salt of the earth, a woman among ten thousand, and deserving of encomiums and wreaths of bay. In her humble way she wished to render tribute. She would put Mme. Chang in the way of amassing wealth. She desired the admired one to enter a small alleyway hard by and become affluent.

More out of curiosity than impelled by visions of riches, Mme. Chang stated to the Court, she allowed herself to be led into the alleyway and up to a small, three-legged table upon which a bored-looking male individual was maneuvering three playing cards. On the arrival of the ladies, the bored-looking person brightened up and showed the newcomers the faces of the paste-boards, laying particular emphasis upon one of the triad. He then smeared the cards about a bit on the table and leaned back. Mme. Kau extracted a copper from her pocket and laid it upon one of the cards. Turning the bit of paper over the man exhibited symptoms of surprise on finding it to be the one on which he had laid stress, shrugged his shoulders resignedly and pushed over the original copper and two others to Mme. Kau. He then again messed the cards about, and Mme. Kau again with unerring eye nominated the correct one, and again tripled her stake. The process seemed ridiculously simple to Mme. Chang and she unknotted her kerchief.

When all of her coppers had been laid, one after another, upon the wrong card—with tantalising interpolations of success—Mme. Chang gave Mme. Kau a hard look and prepared to depart. Mme. Kau bade her stay. On the next flutter, she could recoup all her losses and leave the field with much lucre to boot. She pointed to the heavy, gold ring which Mme. Chang wore upon her finger. Mme. Chang indicated emphatic dissent, and started away. Whereupon, Mme. Chang recited in outraged accents to the Court, Mme. Kau seized her, stripped the ring from her finger and passed it to the three-card artist, who meanwhile had folded up his apparatus and with it under one arm and the circlet in his pocket faded rapidly around the corner. The only tangible remnants of the party remaining being Mme. Kau, Mme. Chang fastened upon that lady a couple of vice-like grips and shrieked efficaciously for the police.

When it came Kau Waung-sz's turn to speak, she characterised her accuser as a woman whose undoubted oratorical powers had been perverted into mendacious channels. She had not enticed the complainant. She had, much to her sorrow, been gambling herself. She had lost no less than nine coppers. Could the Court wish any more conclusive proof than this that she was no party to a swindle?

The Court evidently could, for it assigned Mme. Kau to the cloistral simplicity of a Mixed Court cell for a fortnight and adjured the police to make diligent search for the elusive manipulator of the cards.

American Club Raises Tls. 360,000 For Building; Start Construction Soon

President J. Harold Dollar Announces Three Fifths Of Total Secured By Members' Subscriptions

Over three fifths of the Taels 550,000 to be raised by the American Club for its new seven story building on Foochow Road has been subscribed, and construction will be started in March, President J. Harold Dollar announced last night at a special meeting of the membership.

Mr. Dollar said that members had already subscribed for Taels 360,000 worth of debentures and urged every one holding membership in the Club to take a part of the issue.

The amount makes it possible for the Club to proceed with the new building, assured that the venture is to be a success.

"The new building will be a credit to American effort in China, and every member will want to have a share in bringing it about," Mr. Dollar said.

Detailed plans will be ready in a month and work of clearing the site will be started by February 15 at the latest.

At the meeting a byelaw was passed which will place all present associate members and all who join the club in the future come under the designation of "voting members." Hitherto there have been but 225 voting members, others being associate members.

The General Committee also announced the appointment of a special committee to interview each member of the Club in the interest of the building debentures.

This special committee is made up of Messrs. Walter Smith of the Asia Banking Corporation, H. B. Longfellow of the Robert Dollar Company, F. W. McIntyre of Andersen, Meyer and Company, Dr. W. T. Findley, Messrs. J. E. Doyle of The China Press, A. O. Fisher of Harvie, Cooke and Company, A. F. Kimball of the International Savings Society, H. P. Sailor and Captain W. I. Eisler.

CHIEF OF NANTAO COURT IS MISSING WITH OVER $40,000

Secretary Arrested As His Accomplice; 12-year-old Son Also Detained

While no specific charges have yet been made against Mei Yi-kuo, chief of the District Court of Shanghai, who has disappeared since last Saturday, it has been ascertained by the local judicial authorities that embezzlement of over $40,000 was the cause of Mei's disappearance and a formal charge to this effect is expected to be framed against him shortly.

The report of the disappearance of Mei caused a sensation yesterday among the Chinese community here. Local organisations clamored for a thorough investigation of the case because they maintained that the charge against Mei, if proved, would jeopardise China's claim for the abolition of extraterritoriality. It is especially to be regretted, they point out, that such a case should take place just on the eve when come success has been attained by the Chinese to secure their judicial autonomy.

The treasurer of the District Court of Shanghai, Wu Shu-chu, has been arrested and Mei's son, Sze Ching, a student at Ching Chong School, is being detained at the Nantao Court. Wu handled all the money affairs of the court. Sze Ching is only 12 years old. A protest was filed yesterday by the president of the school, Mr. Tsao Mo-kwan, against his detention.

The official investigation of the case is being conducted by Mr. Shen Shih-ching, chief of the Soochow District Court, who has been instructed to report on the case by Judge Chu Hsien-wei of the Supreme Court in Soochow.

Mei was last seen at a trial in the Nantao Court on Friday. On the following day, however, he wrote a letter to the secretariat of the court to say that on account of urgent business in Soochow, he would be absent for two or three days. No suspicion was aroused until on Tuesday afternoon when someone of the court called at his house at 51 Yuan Chang Lee, West Gate, and found that the premises had been vacated.

Judge Chu was informed by a lengthy letter addressed to him by Mei himself before he left Shanghai. The contents of the letter have not yet been published but it is understood that they are being used by Chief Shen in his investigation.

Mei assumed office in Shanghai on October 1, 1921. Reports indicate that he had speculated heavily during the period of frenzied finance in 1921 and made use of the funds of the court for private purposes. He was born in Yuyao, Chekiang, and identified himself with the judicial service early in the history of the Republic as Chief of the District Court of Kiukiang. In 1920, he was transferred to Shanghai as its chief procurator. He is a close friend of Tung Kang, ex-minister of Justice and was given the last appointment by Yu Shao-sung when the latter was Vice-minister of Justice.

The mental condition of Mei is also engaging the attention of the official investigator. It is known that he was very nervous at times and appeared to be weak-minded. He was usually quiet at times while generally he talks with an excited pitch.

GARAGE OWNERS CHARGED WITH POSSESSING ARMS

Owner Of Fei Lung Brought Into Mixed Court

Two well-to-do Chinese—the proprietor of the Fei Lung Garage, 1789 Bubbling Well Road, and his brother—faced serious charges in the Mixed Court yesterday, when they were accused by the police of storing arms and ammunition and of being in posession of opium and opium paraphernalia. The defendants are Zung An-kong, the proprietor of the garage, and Zung Kung-hai.

Police evidence in the case was given by Inspectors Gibson and Coghlan and a large quantity of pistols, pistol stocks, ammunition boxes, opium jars, pipes, etc. was brought into Court. Mr. Maitland, Public Prosecutor, appeared to press the charge and the accused were defended by Dr. O. Fischer.

The charge framed against the two is to the effect that they stored two automatic pistols, eight boxes of ammunition, three rounds of rifle ammunition and five automatic pistol cases, as well as opium and smoking apparatus.

Inspector Coghlan stated that at about 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning, armed with a search warrant, he and other police officers searched the garage premises, finding the articles specified in the charge.

Mr. Maitland asked that the accused be remanded in custody for one week, submitting that it was a very serious case. Dr. Fischer stated that he had no objection to a remand, but applied for bail, citing the article of the Chinese Provisional Criminal Code under which his clients were charged in support of his request.

Mr. Maitland maintained that the case was more serious than if the accused had not been garage owners, but Dr. Fischer stoutly maintained that bail should be allowed and the Court finally remanded the matter one week, accused to put up $1,500 shop security each.

SLEVIN, ACCUSED OF IMPORTING 6 AEROS, ON TRIAL

Faces Charge Of Bringing In Machines For Militarists

Mr. James Slevin, who was arrested in Hankow by a detachment from the U.S.S. Isabel, flagship of the American Yangtsze patrol, charged with importing six airplanes into China, was arraigned before Judge Charles S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China yesterday. He pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Slevin's case was called yesterday as his attorney, Mr. F. J. Schuhl, former U. S. Commissioner, desired to take the evidence of an important witness for the defense, Mr. Li Pan-san of Tientsin, who could not be in Shanghai to testify at a later date. Acting U. S. District Attorney C. P. Holcomb represented the Government.

Mr. Li testified that he had been a resident of Tientsin for nearly twenty years and at the present time was one of the promoters of The Szetah Company, organised to carry airplane mail between Hankow and Peking and vice versa. Mr. Li said that his company had purchased the airplanes from Mr. Slevin through Mr. Lim King-jin, one of the wealthiest merchants in China, and a member of the well known Lim families of Formosa and Amoy.

HAD PERMIT

The Szeath Company secured a permit for the importation and use of the airplanes for carrying mail from the Aeronautical Bureau at Peking, Mr. Li said, with the understanding that they were to be used for carrying mails between Peking and Hankow, and later of carrying passengers if the venture proved successful.

Under questioning by Mr. Schuhl, Mr. Slevin's attorney, Mr. Li said the company had been formed by nine Chinese merchants and the airplanes were to be used for commercial purposes only. He said he did not know General Wu Pei-fu or General Chang Tso-lin.

"Were any of the planes to be used for military purposes?" Mr. Schuhl asked.

"I don't know," Mr. Li replied.

A squabble between Mr. Schuhl and Major Holcomb immediately ensued, Mr. Schuhl asserting Mr. Li had not understood the question, and Major Holcomb declaring that "the witness was telling the truth." Mr. Schuhl urged the Court to allow him more leeway, with the witness as it was extremely difficult to gain a correct understanding even though both Shanghai and Mandarin interpreters were being used. Judge Lobingier, however, said that a previous ruling of the Court had made the Court's position clear that Chinese witnesses were to be treated as any other.

A MAIL CONTRACT

Mr. Li then testified that he had seen the Minister for Foreign Affairs in Peking concerning the use of the 'planes and that through the Aeronautical Bureau the Company had been guaranteed as a legitimate commercial enterprise. He understood, he said, that the Minister had so notified the American Legation in Peking.

Under cross-examination by Major Holcomb, Mr. Li said that his company had a contract with

WAR CLOUDS HOVER OVER BALKANS

Hungary, Rumania And Jugo-Slavia Reported Mobilising, And One Wrong Move May Set Fire To Whole Peninsula

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 18.—In pursuance of their policy of controlling coal exports the French today seized all railway stations in the Ruhr.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Jan. 18.—An Italian wireless message from Rome, dated Jan. 17, says that Notes were exchanged on Jan. 16 between Signor Mussolini and M. Poincare which have caused a sensation in the diplomatic and political circles there. Signor Mussolini says he considers that the French are going too far and are endangering the peace of Europe. He recommends limiting military action, which should be confined to protection of the economic commission.

News reaching Rome from Belgrade and other sources accentuates the fact that warclouds are brooding over the Balkans. The situation is described as electric. One wrong move on the part of a Balkan state may fire the whole peninsula. Hungary and Bulgaria are represented as trouble-makers but the little Powers may take advantage of the tension to settle their own scores. Hungary, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia are reported to be mobilising.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 18.—Representatives of the Ruhr mine-owners have handed the occupation authorities a long declaration signed by each mine-owner individually, reaffirming their determination not to deliver coal to France and Belgium.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, January 18.—A French official statement says that owing to German diversion of barges of coal intended for France and Belgium, a number of barges on the Rhine intended for unoccupied parts of Germany have been seized. Measures are being taken to prevent loading of similar cargoes.

The French authorities met the railway staffs yesterday with the object of enlisting their co-operation. The proceedings were fairly friendly.

The Army of Occupation consists of six divisions.

Herr Thyssen has departed for Hamburg, which is now the seat of the coal syndicate.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, January 18.—A semi-official statement says that continued diversion of trainloads of coal to France and Belgium has been effected without incident. The coal owners, up to the present, have not replied to the requisitioning orders. Six owners were warned yesterday evening that they would be summoned to court martial if they persisted in their resistance.

The German Imperial coal commissioner arrived at Essen yesterday and had a long interview with representatives of the Allied Coal Mines Bureau with a view to ensuring deliveries of reparations coal to the Allies. The scope of the conversation is not known but whatever may have been settled the collection of the coal tax begins today on behalf of the Allies, in paper marks.

(Reuter's Service)

Essen, Jan. 17.—It is understood that the German mineowners have been given until noon today to decide whether they will carry out the orders of the French. If they refuse, as they undoubtedly will, further sanctions will be immediately enforced.

The properties of Krupp's, and of Herren Stinnes and Thyssen will be the first to suffer as they are the richest firms in Germany and the leaders of the industrial warfare.

The French authorities are taking steps to control the movement of coal and have established control stations at Essen, Werden, Muelheim, Bottrop and Oberhausen. These stations will also direct the use of rolling-stock.

It is significant that none of the 20,000 trucks, which have been despatched to Germany from the Ruhr during the last 24 hours, have returned. It is re-

5 JAPANESE JAIL BREAKERS GIVEN LONG SENTENCES

Men Who Assisted Korean Slayer To Escape Get Severe Punishment

An echo of the murder of Mrs. Grace Snyder of Brazil, Ind., on the Customs jetty early last year when two Korean revolutionists attempted to assassinate Baron General Tanaka, was heard in the Japanese Consular Court yesterday when a Japanese prisoner who escaped from the local Japanese jail at the same time as one of the Korean murderers, and four Japanese alleged to have assisted in the jail break, were sentenced to long terms of imprisonment.

T. Tamura, who escaped with the Korean while he was being held for trial, and who was later recaptured at Hangchow, was given two and a half years in jail—one of the longest sentences ever given in the local Japanese Court—in addition to the 18 months he was already serving.

K. Fujita and S. Komiga were also sentenced to two and a half years, K. Sato was given one year, and K. Iwasaki was sentenced to 16 days. Tamura, Fujita and Komiga will serve their sentences in the Nagasaki prison, and the two others will be imprisoned here.

The Japanese, Tamura, and the Korean being held for the murder of Mrs. Synder escaped from the Japanese jail a few days after the Koreans had shot and killed Mrs. Snyder, and wounded several Shanghai residents in their attempted escape after their mad assassination scheme had failed. The Korean who escaped has never been heard of since although Japanese officials have made a ceaseless search for him and have offered a large reward for his recapture. The other Korean was tried in the Nagasaki courts and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—It is reported from Essen that a large number of troops are proceeding to the East, engendering the belief that the French will extend the area of occupation today.

Paris, Jan. 17.—The Duesseldorf correspondent of the Havas Agency learns from a good source that, owing to the occupation of the Ruhr, Herr Hugo Stinnes has cancelled contracts for iron-ore with Canadian companies and that in consequence 2,200 workers in Newfoundland are likely to be thrown out of employment.

(Reuter's Service)

Duesseldorf, Jan. 17.—A French official statement says that military operations are concluded and future sanctions will be economic, not military.

The French are now controlling and regulating the coal traffic.

The Germans today offered deliveries of coal to Italy but the latter is acting in conjunction with the French and Belgians.

In consequence of the Germans not complying with the order to resume deliveries, the French are requisitioning coal and proceeding to take measures against individual industrialists.

In conclusion the statement says that the mines are working normally and there is no indication of trouble.

House To Vote On Cabinet Todoy

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Jan. 18.—The vote on the Cabinet has been set down on Friday's agenda. General Chang Shou-tseng has notified the House of Representatives that he will be present.

A group of students of the Law Academy yesterday demonstrated outside the House. Interviewed by the Chairman's secretary, the students explained that they desired to protest against the election of Mr. Peng Yun-yi as Minister of Education because he had recommended Mr. Liu Yen as Dean of the Law College. The secretary arranged that the students should send in a written statement of their views.

Mr. Tsai Yuan-pei has resigned on the grounds that he finds it impossible to work under Mr. Peng Yun-yi, owing to the latter's interference in judicial affairs.

Replying to a letter from General Chang Shou-tseng, Mr. Tuan Chih-jui agrees that at present there are altogether too many officials of notorious avarice, while the military authorities do not seem to realise that their avocation is fighting against the country's enemies, adding that political conditions cannot be improved until these hindrances are removed.

Replying to the congratulations of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Mr. Tang Shao-yi, Mr. Sun Hung-yi and Mr. Tsen Chun-hsuan, the Premier urges an understanding between Kwangsi and Kwangtung, which, he says, would go far towards paving the way for reunification.

the Chinese Government for carrying the mails, and had leased two flying fields from the Aeronautical Bureau for landing purposes.

At first Mr. Li said they had no definite contract, but that they had been negotiating with the Aeronautical Bureau, which meant the same thing in China. The Aeronautical Bureau had no funds at the time, he said. Later he said there was a contract in existence.

"What did the contract call for?" Major Holcomb asked.

"The Government was to get one-third of the proceeds, and the company two-thirds of the receipts," Mr. Li said.

"From whom?"

"Why, whoever mailed the letter had to pay the fee," Mr. Li replied.

Major Holcomb indicated that in his argument he would go into the possibilities of success in such a business deal.

The case was remanded for further hearing in its regular order on the Court calendar.

Carlton Singers

The Golden Gate Quartette drew another good audience to the Carlton last night, and again proved themselves to be master entertainers. As on their first night the boys were heard to best advantage in the dining room with its smaller space and better acoustics, but in both dining and ball room they were warmly welcomed.

Like nearly everybody else in Shanghai the singers are suffering from slight colds, their leader, Mr. Shaw, being the worst off in this respect. Frank said that yesterday was just one gargle after another for him. Manager Ellis attributes their throat troubles to the dust that is at present so thick in this arid community, but Joe Aronson said the hoarseness was caused by the horse laughs with which the singers greeted an assertion by Whitey Smith that he had shot the last hole at the Race track yesterday in one under par. Whitey made it worse, Joe said, by offering to take them all over to the Recreation ground and show them where his second had lit on the green.

The quartette sang one song last night, entitled, "Where there's a will there's relatives," that didn't have any weeds in it at all.

There may be a lot of dust in our fair city just now, but there's none on these warblers, as you will discover the first time you dine or dance at the Carlton.

Tomorrow night the singers will present their first big specialty number, "A Night In Little Italy," in which they present a number of tuneful and rollicking Italian and Italianesque songs. "A Night In Little Italy" scored a big hit when the Golden Gate foursome presented it on the Orpheum Circuit in the United States.

Orchest a Concert

The usual Thursday evening concert by the Municipal orchestra at the Town Hall last night was unusually attractive, and was enjoyed by a good sized audience. The soloists were Mrs. Vanderburgh, soprano, and Messrs. Soa and Wegnan, violinists, Mrs. Vanderburgh gave an excellent rendition of some Mozart themes and the violin concerto consisted of some Bach numbers. All were very pleasing.

The principal orchestra number was Brahms' Smphhony No. 2, which was given in a manner that reflected great credit upon Maestro Paci and his capable musicians.

No evidence was adduced at the hearing. Inspector Cruickshank applying for a remand of one week to allow further police investigation. The remand was granted by the Court.

It is alleged by the police that Hurld's injuries were received in a fight with the boy last Friday. The young engineer died on Saturday at the General Hospital and the post mortem examination conducted by Dr. Thomas B. Dunn revealed that his skull had been fractured, with consequent hemorrhage of the brain.

ANGLO-AMERICAN DEBT CONFEREES FAIL TO AGREE

Baldwin, British Treasurer, To Return Home

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 17.—To-morrow's meeting of the Debt-Funding Commission will be in the nature of a leave-taking. Mr. Stanley Baldwin and his colleagues will leave for home on Saturday.

The Americans have intimated to the British that President Harding is unable to assent to any plan which is not likely to receive approval during the present session of Congress, as this would delay settlement for at least a year and would at the same time hold up negotiations with the other European nations, in which he hoped that the British arrangements would serve as a precedent.

They pointed out that the ground was sufficiently cleared to enable the final details to be settled by an exchange of diplomatic telegrams.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Jan. 17.—The members of the American debt-funding commission state that the suggested figure of 3% for the interest on the British debt was not favored as it was below the rate that America was paying on certain loans.

It is still hoped that an agreement in principle will be reached and possibly the British delegation will delay its departure if no agreement is reached by Saturday.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 17.—Reuter's Agency learns that Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, will probably return to England from Washington in a few days' time to consult the Cabinet with regard to the debt-funding negotiations.

It is emphasised that there is no question of a rupture and that the conversations are merely suspended. There is no reason to suppose that Mr. Baldwin will not return to Washington soon.

It is pointed out that now there is only a small difference with regard to the rate of interest and the term of payment and that both sides have made concessions which have exceeded their instructions.

ALLOWANCE OF RUBBER EXPORTS TO STAND, RULING

Colonial Office Tells Ceylon And Malaya Of Decision

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 17.—The Colonial Secretary has informed the Governments of Ceylon and Malaya that it is not desirable to modify the present scale of export allowances laid down in Appendix A of the Rubber Report.

He suggested that, if it were necessary, a fuller statement should be furnished regarding the recommendations, particularly relating to the position of small-holdings.

The Secretary also informed Ceylon that it is at present not advisable to exclude latex from the provisions of the export restriction legislation.

In view of misapprehensions with regard to the system under which larger exports of rubber may be released on the minimum duty, the Colonial Office points out that on each occasion the price of rubber per quarter averages 1-3 per pound or over, but not as high as 1-6.

The percentage per annum of rubber that may be exported on the minimum duty would be increased by five for the next quarter and on each occarion the price averages 1-6 or over the percentage would be increased by 10 the next quarter.

Bonar Law's Childhood In Canadian Backwoods

BY T. M. FRASER

On the Manawagonish road in a remote part of the Province of New Brunswick, Can., there is still living an old lady, Mrs. Margaret Wood, who was the nurse of the present prime minister of Great Britain. Premier Law would have known her as Margaret Stymest. She is now 82 years of age and she claims the distinction of having made young Bonar's first pair of breeks. The exigencies of those pioneering days in New Brunswick, and the straitened circumstances of a frontier clergyman's life, required that they be cut down from the good broadcloth which had already served young Law's father in a similar capacity.

If Premier Law recalls the circumstance, he will probably call them his "res angusta domi" trousers. When the news reached Manawagonish road that the little son of the Presbyterian manse on the banks of the Richibucto river had become premier of Great Britain, Margaret Stymest began to reminisce, and she reckons that this bit of tailoring was the most famous act of her long life. She asserts that "Bonar was always a good boy, and his father never had to punish him." The child was father to the man.

Rev. James Law, father of the prime minister, came to Canada from County Antrim, Ire., and first landed at Halifax, Nova Scotia, where Mrs. Law, whose family name was Kidston, had relatives. There is still a Kidston farm a few miles from Halifax. It will be recalled to Americans who have visited that city from the fact that on it is situated the rocking stone, an enormous granite boulder as large as a goodsized cottage, which is so delicately poised that a touch will set it rocking. For many generations it has been a favorite objective for walks and picnics for Halifax people. The Kidstons have inherited a streak of Scotch canniness, and collect toll from visitors who go to see this natural curiosity.

Rev. James Law settled in the Richibucto district in New Brunswick; and like all clergymen in the pioneer days, had to eke out a living by farming as well as preaching. He ministered to the Presbyterians of Richibucto, Buctouche, and other parishes where the population was largely made up of the Indian tribes who were the original possessors of the land. It was a life of hardship, with long journeys, usually by canoe as roads were practically non-existent. The clergyman's wife did not long survive it, dying when the present prime minister was an infant. Her sister, Miss Kidston of Glasgow, Scot., was present when she died, and promised to take care of young Bonar. Accordingly, when he was about 14 years of age, he was sent to Scotland, and severed his connection with his birth place.

There were five other children in the Law family. As they grew up, they worked the farm for a time and eventually, like all Canadian families, scattered to "do for themselves." One brother of the premier, Robert, conducted a store at Kingston, N. B., for years, and died there. Another, Dr. William Law, went to the United States and afterwards to Coleraine, Ire. Still others went west, and a nephew of the prime minister, another Bonar Law, is living in Winnipeg. There are none of the connection now in New Brunswick, but the house which they occupied, a little wooden story-and-a-half dwelling, still stands.

About the same time as Rev. James Law came to Canada there came another Presbyterian clergyman, whose circumstances and experiences were almost a duplicate of those of the father of Bonar Law. This was Rev William Aitken, who settled a little farther north in the Miramichi district of New Brunswick, but who was a neighbor as neighbors went in that country of great empty spaces. The two clergymen were bosom friends.

Rev. William Aitken had a large family, one of whom was William Maxwell Aitken, now Lord Beaverbrook. When, after a spectacular career in Canada in which as a company promoter and financier he laid the foundations of a large fortune, "Max" Aitken went to Great Britain in search of new lands to conquer, what more natural than that he should look up the son of his father's old friend, with whom the family had never wholly lost touch? The subsequent career of these two sons of Presbyterian manses in the New Brunswick backwoods, which landed one in the peerage after a spectacular career as the "Bunty" who pulled the strings to make the Lloyd George government, and the other in the prime ministership of Great Britain, is current history.

Championship Battle Should Draw Mob; Donations Urged

The following is the official program of Association football for tomorrow:

Public School vs. Police. On S. F. C. ground.

St. Xavier's vs. Engineers. On Polo ground.

H. M. Navy vs. Public School 2nd. W. Monument.

S. F. C. 2nd vs. Police 2nd. Police ground.

St. Xavier's 2nd vs. Rangers. Hongkew.

The honorary secretary of the Shanghai Football Association announces that at a committee meeting held Wednesday evening, recommendations of the Interport Selection Committee regarding the financial aspect of the Interport visit to Hongkong were gone into, and it was decided that so far as possible, the whole of the expenses, some $2,000, should be raised from among Shanghai foot ball clubs and their supporters.

Mr. J. Spunt, who has been a close follower of Association football for many years, has given $100 as a commencement, and a few other donations, on an equally generous scale, are expected. Apart from the proportion of the gate-money which has been given to charity, the trial match on Sunday last provided $190, so that the total sum in hand towards the Interport expenses is just under $300.

With the permission of the Trustees of the Shanghai Recreation Fund and the approval of the Clubs concerned, it has been decided to play the First League match between the S. F. C. and the S. R. C. tomorrow which originally was scheduled to take place on the S. F. C. ground, on the S. R. C. ground, and to collect at the gate an admittance fee of one dollar per person. Twenty percent of the gross proceeds will be handed to the Charity League.

While it is pointed out that this charge is not compulsory, it is confidently expected by the Committee that those followers of local football who go to see the match will all pay the nominal sum mentioned, or such larger amount as they may feel inclined.

A Boy Scout will be specially on duty at the gate with a book of compradore order forms, which may be used by any football enthusiast who wishes to give any extra sum, however small, towards the Interport expenses.

Given good weather, this match should provide one of the best and most attractive games of the season. It is the general opinion that on the result of this match will rest the First League Championship for this season, and for this reason alone there should be a bumper attendance.

It has now definitely been decided that the Interport team shall leave Shanghai on the Sicilia on February 12, and return on the Empress of Russia which is due here from Hongkong on February 24. Four matches (including the Interport game) will be played at Hongkong.

Soochow Graduates Champs; Final Game With Foreign Quintet Ends In Tie Score

In the Soochow senior basketball league, the second game between the two leading teams, the Graduates and the Foreigners, resulted in a tie score of 31 all. This was the last game of the league, because of the closing of the university and the going away of the Red and Black team members. Every one in the city interested in basketball was interested in this game and a record crowd of spectators appeared. Mr. Smith of the League school held the whistle, and called fouls pretty often.

The foreign team with its regular five players had this advantage over the graduates, one of whose forwards was ill. The foreign players started off merrily with several baskets, and it looked rather one sided for five minutes, but the grads got together and after about eight minutes play the score was tied. The first half ended 21 to 18 in favor of the grads, who had five foul goals to the foreigners two, thus leaving the floor score equal.

At the beginning of the second game Umpire Smith warned the players that there was too much roughness, and it must be cut out. The playing continued fast and at times furious, and many fouls were called, the Chinese making four points to the foreigners one, the foreign team made five floor goals to the grads three. The score stood 31 to 20 in favor of the grads, and the ball was travelling prettily toward the basket when the timekeeper blew his whistle, but the shot, by Johnson, went going and made the total score 31 all. However, through a misunderstanding about this goal, the score was announced as 31 to 29, and the error was not discovered until the teams were about dressed, so the tie could not be played out. Because of the going away of a number of players, another game is now impossible.

The line up was as follows:

Jackson	F	Voong.
Johnson	F	Tsai
Jacobus	C	Voong Chas.
Liang	G	White
Wong	G	McMillan

The individual scoring was as follows: Jackson 3, and 2 fouls, Johnson 9, Jacobus 7, White 1, Voong 2, Tsai, 2, Chas. Voong 4 and 9 fouls, Liang 3.

The Graduates are in the lead. They beat the foreign team nicely once, and but for the postponement of their game with the Blacks, they would probably have had three wins and this tie, as against the foreign three wins and one defeat.

There has been a fine feeling of rivalry created by the league. Several hundred persons have watched each game. The interest in basketball is on the increase, and when next term opens there will probably be several strong leagues.

H'kong Golfers Preparing For Shanghai Players; First Trial Is Tomorrow

The first of the trial golf matches preparatory to the selection of the Hongkong team to meet Shanghai at China New Year will be played at Hongkong tomorrow and further matches will take place January 27, February 3 and 10. The following eighteen players have been asked to participate: Mr. G. S. Archbutt, Lieut. Bacon, Mr. H. R. Buckland, Capt. Bloxham, Capt. Cumming, Mr. R. A. Camidge, Major Gandy, Mr. T. W. Hill, Mr. W. Galloway, Mr. H. U. Ireland, Mr. B. D. Crawford Morgan, Mr. W. W. Mackenzie, Mr. A. K. Mackenzie, Mr. E. J. R. Mitchell, Mr. J. B. Ross, Mr. A. B. Stewart, Mr. R. M. Smith and Mr. J. E. Warner.

All the players will take part in at least three of the trials and, in addition, they have been asked to put in as many cards as possible, marked "Interport," apart from the trial games. As the Committee responsible for the selection of the team has decided not to take the medal score into account but to judge the cards on bogey, there is no excuse for the players not putting in their cards.

Messrs. G. S. Archbutt, H. U. Ireland, J. Hooper, A. B. Stewart and B. D. Crawford Morgan compose the Selection Committee. The team will not be definitely decided upon until after the last trial match on the 10th February, but it is quite possible that before that date some idea will be forthcoming as to the probable composition of the side.

As is well known the conditions for the Interport this year have been altered. The teams will be six a side, all to count, and the matches will last over two days, 36-holes singles being played on the first day and 36-holes four-ball foursomes on the second.

BY TOMMY GRAFTON

Two changes in the standings of the Foreign Basketball League resulted from last night's games at the Y. M. C. A., where the American School five staged a sensational comeback, defeating Kenny Irie's pennant hopes, 22 to 12, and the Stripes downed the Public School team in a 53 to 18 game.

The victory of the American School was not altogether unexpected, as the schoolboys have hitherto fought like demons against the Bearcats, but the early lead brought the crowd to its feet. With the Squires brothers, Shirley, Hager, and Smith fighting like five caged lions, the Bear-

The smallest golf course in England has recently been opened in the center of a London suburb. It has an area of one and one-half acres. The course has been laid out on the side of a hill, so that there are many sleep slopes and, despite the limited space, golfers may indulge in every stroke of the game.

POLICE INSPECTOR MAKES 191 SCORE IN RIFLE SHOOTING

Taking part in the Police annual musketry course at the Kowloon City Range on January 10, Sub-Inspector McNab Wilson of Hongkong put up the remarkably fine score of 191 out of a possible 200. At 100 yards (grouping) he obtained a possible 25, his five shots being easily covered by half-a-crown.

At 200 yards (fixed bayonet) he scored another possible 20, and at snap shooting (with an exposure of three seconds) he secured a possible 15. In the "mad minute" (15 rounds) he got a total of 57 points out of a possible 60, and the 300 yards individual, 19 out of 20—all bulls with the exception of one center.

The Sub-Inspector obtained 36 points out of a possible 40 in 10 rounds in 45 seconds at the 300 yards range, and ended up by putting on 19 out of a possible 20 at 400 yards, making a total of 191 points out of a possible 200.

The Inspector's performance is a record. It would be interesting to know whether it is also a record for the Colony and if the Shanghai Volunteers or Rifle Association have anything better.

cats had little chance to win. Dud Squires played a great game, scoring three goals with spectacular shots, and a howl went up from the S. A. S. rooters when he left the game with an injured thumb.

Roy Squires was in grand form, holding Roxburgh to one basket and was the big man for the school, tallying four baskets, one of them a beautiful shot from center. Maxcy Smith, the crack guard, played sensationally, displaying great class in a wonderful overhead shot from under the basket. Hager caged a long one in the second half, when the fight was at its hardest.

Kenny Irle was guarding Shipley, the diminutive forward star, and was the feature of the Bearcats' defense. Irle was off in his shooting, and was unable to find the basket at any time for scores. Doc Gray was the only reliable man for the losers, scoring 8 out of 12 points.

The school scored twice with shots by Dud Squires and Smith before Roxburgh could get in a position to score. The schoolboys clearly had the upper hand in the first period, dropping them in from every position on the floor, although they had a great deal of hard luck in shooting, the ball on numberless occasions bouncing out of the basket. Doc Gray broke away just before half time, and brought up the Bearcat total considerably, although the S. A. S. quintet was leading by the substantial margin of 18 to 8.

A terrific guarding game featured the second half, neither team being able to score much, and the school players were fighting with eyes on the clock, with the determination to once more trim Kenny Irle's team. And they came through with the stuff, and the Bearcats bowed for the second time this season.

By their fourth straight win, the American School goes into a tie with the Bearcats for second place, which they really deserve to hold as they have taken two out of three from the Cat five.

The summary follows:

Amn. School 22		Bearcats 12
Shipley	lf	Gray
Dud Squires	rf	Elliott
Roy Squires	c	Roxburgh
Hager	lg	Irle (C)
Smith (RF)	rg	Hirsh

Goals from floor: Shipley, Dud Squires 3, Roy Squires 4, Hager, Smith 2; Gray 2, Elliott, Roxburgh. Goals from fouls: Gray 4. Referee: Zee. Timekeeper: Shipley. Scorer: Grafton.

STRIPES BEAT S. P. S.

The Stripes easily defeated the Public School quintet, who played with only two regulars, and were beaten from the start. The Stripes are now in fourth place.

Ross was the big man for the Stripes, caging 13 baskets, and Barnes and Smith both raised considerably their season's total. Jack Levis was the leading player for the losers, with six goals from the floor and a couple from the foul line.

The Stripes had the game on ice in five minutes, scoring goal after goal, and not giving the S. P. S. a chance. The half-time score was 34 to 4, but the play was much closer in the second period, in which the Stripes best-

ALL-WHITES VICTORS

The All-Whites came up to second place and tie with Fuhtan in the league standing through its win over the alumni team of The Public School for Chinese in a close game last night before a big crowd of basketball enthusiasts. The game was very close throughout, so close that it was hard to predict even up to the last minute which team would come out winner. The final score was 27 to 25.

The alumni scored four easy points a few seconds after the opening whistle by two successive goals by Yui and Chang. But the winners soon made up the lost points, and the interval showed the score at 15 to 13, with the alumni team leading.

The alumni quintet kept ahead in the score until the last five minutes when they showed signs of weakening and let their opponents even up their score. The last and winning goal, which was scored by Li, the All-Whites' guard, in the last minute of play, cost the alumni team dearly.

The play was not of the standard the teams showed in the early games of the season. Both teams were slow and did a lot of fumbling in their passes. They ought to do better in this last game of the first round.

For the winner, Li the guard, played a fine game. He was responsible for the winning goal and another three which he made at difficult anglee. D. Y. Lee and Yui deserved credit for the losers, and Loch their guard played his usual hard game.

The summaries:

CHINESE FROM HONGKONG IS IN LONDON TOURNEY

Many, says Sporting Life, will want to see S. C. Wu, who in many respects is the most notable entrant for the Amateur Billiard Championship of England. He graduated at Cambridge University, and with his compatriot, Lock Wei, caused some stir in 'Varsity billiards circles a few years ago. Indeed, Wei had the unique distinction (for a foreigner) of winning the challenge cue, although at that time he had not much in hand of his fellow countryman who was also a competitor in the same event.

Since then, Wu has had the benefit of some tuition from one of the leading professionals, and has all the makings of a good player. He played in the last Snooker championship, but he is much more likely to shine at the three-ball game.

Wu's real name is Ng Sze-cheung, and he is a brother of Ng Sze-kwong who has five times won the open tennis championship of Hongkong. Wu played a lot of tennis a couple of years ago with Wei Wing-lock, who is now in Hongkong, and holds with Ng Sze-kwong the doubles tennis championship of Hongkong. Ng is well known in Shanghai.

Handloom Cloth Industry

Cotton cloth is the principal article exported by Tungchow and Haichow. The industry is carried on by nearly 2,000,000 inhabitants of the two districts. We are indebted to the Bureau of Economic Information for the following notes on the subject.

After the close of the farming season, the workers begin to weave. They work from five in the morning until six in the evening, and are able to weave a piece of cloth of about 50 feet in one day.

The annual output of cloth is about 9,000,000 pieces, of which Tungchow produces three-fifths and Haichow two-fifths. The largest production comes in March, June, September and January.

The best market for Tungchow and Haichow cloth is Chefoo and Manchuria with an annual sale of about 4,000,000 pieces. Several hundred thousand pieces are also sold in Kiangsu, Chekiang, Fukien, Kwantung, Szechuen, Hunan and Shantung provinces and in Shanghai; 4,000 to 5,000 pieces are sold in Soochow Kiang-ying Huchow Wusih, Nanking, Chinkiang and Nan-zing each year.

There are four methods of selling the cloth; namely: "Fanchuang" "Kwanchuang" "Wha Pai" and retail. "Fanchuang" is the merchant who buys the cloth from the peasants and resells it to the "Kwanchuang." In the two districts there are more than 600 "Fanchuang" with about 2,000 employees. In order to do the "Fanchuang" business one has to have a capital of from $100 to $5,000, must be experienced, and informed on market conditions. They buy the cloth from the weavers in the morning and bring it to the "Kwanchuang" in the afternoon. Then the "Kwanchuang" decides the quality and the price of the cloth and, if the "Fanchuang" agrees to the price given, the deal is closed, otherwise, the "Fanchuang" has to wait until the next day to sell the goods to some other "Kwanchuang."

There are more than 30 "Kwanchuang" in the two districts. Because of the fact that the cloth has its largest market east of Shanhaikwan such stores are named "Kwanchuang." They have to have big capital, large store space, and a great number of employees. After they had bought the cloth from the "Fanchuang," they stamp and measure it and print their trade mark on it. After assorting the various sizes of cloth a roll is made containing about 40 pieces and it is then ready to be shipped to Chefoo and Manchuria either by the Kwan itself or by some Shanghai express company. The shipping cost of each roll is 16 cents from Tungchow and Haichow to Shanghai and 80 cents from Shanghai to Chefoo. The merchandise tax for each roll is 64 cents and the customs tax about 25 cents.

The market for "Kwan-pei" is not so important as for "Kwanchuang." It is first sorted by the "Fanchuang" into rolls of 25 pieces each and are sold to Shanghai stores, where they are dyed with various fancy patterns. The brokers who secure the market for "Fanchuang" get 2 cents on each piece and 20 cents on each roll.

CHEN DESTROYS ARSENAL BEFORE LEAVING CANTON

(China Press Service).

Canton, Jan. 17.—Prior to his departure from Canton, Chen Chiung-ming, Commander-in-chief of the rebel troops, ordered the removal of the important parts of the machinery of the Arsenal here to Waichow. The plant of the Canton Munition Works was also demolished. Work in the Arsenal and the Munition Works has been suspended.

The Canton-Samshui Railway has resumed its passenger service, which was interrupted by the transportation of the Chen Chiung-ming's troops from the Western front to Canton en route to Waichow.

Large numbers of Allied Yunnan and Kwangsi troops arrived at Canton yesterday afternoon and established their headquarters at the Guild buildings. Citizens' militias are also in evidence in the city.

The local popular organisations invited the officers of the Constitutional troops and the Citizens' militias to attend a meeting at the Kan Yu Charitable Association today when measures for the maintenance of order were decided upon.

Mr. Chen Chih-yu, Civil Governor of Kwangtung, who fled to Hongkong immediately after the capture of Samshui by the Constitutionalist forces, has tendered his resignation to the Provincial Assembly.

The Mintang members have dispatched a joint telegram to Dr. Sun Yat-sen, requesting him to appoint Mr. Wu Han-min Civil Governor of Kwangtung. The latter was the first Governor of the province under the Republic.

(Reuter's Poetic Service)

Canton, Jan. 17.—The presence of 30,000 occupying troops is greatly embarrassing the residents of Canton because no Commander-in-Chief has yet been appointed.

At Amoy the property of General Chen Chiung-ming's supporters has been seized. This included four residences belonging to a Director of the Canton-Hankow Railway and of the Mint who had offered, as such, financial assistance to General Chen.

Canton merchants are in favor of the appointment of General Ngai Bong-ping as Civil Governor.

Forty commanders are posting their proclamations in the streets of the city.

Asia Banking Corporation

January 18, 1923

Spot bar silver was down ½d. and forward ⅝d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 65½ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 465⅛.

Our official Sterling rate here today was dropped to 3-0½, the Gold Dollar rate to 70¾, the Yen rate raised to 69 and the other rates changed in proportion.

Our market was steady at the opening and became quite firm during the course of the day. In the early part of the day business in Sterling was done at 3-1⅜ for January delivery, 3-1 for February and 3-0¾ for March. Gold Dollars were done at 72 for January, 71¾ February and 71½ for forward delivery.

Although at one time business was done at rates slightly below these, there were generally good sellers at these rates.

Later in the day speculators became sellers, the result being that the market firmed up quickly until at the close when there were sellers of Sterling at 3s. 1⅛d. January, 3s. 1⅛d. February and 3s. 1⅛d. for March-April.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the same time at 72⅝ January, 72⅝ February and 72¼ for forward delivery. There were sellers of Yen at 67⅛ January and buyers at 66⅞. There were sellers for March at 67½ and buyers at 67⅜.

Banks were quoting 3s. 2⅛d. and 74¼ for Sterling and Gold Dollar bills for delivery prior to China New Year and 3s. 2d. and 74 for subsequent deliveries. Franc bills could probably have been placed at 1110.

India and China both sold silver in London yesterday and the market there is reported as closing steady.

New York report their market as easy with sellers at the official rate.

Unusual Year For New Company

The publication in this papepr yesterday of the financial statement of the Asia Life Insurance Company, Inc., for the year 1922, merits favorable comment. That this financial institution, which began business only on September 1, 1921, comes out with such a clean-cut report on its affairs, must be highly satisfactory to its numerous policy-holders, both foreign and Chinese.

Those who have only an average knowledge of the science of life insurance realise that any just appraisal of a life insurance company's statement must take into consideration several important facts. For instance, that in proportion to the number of risks carried, the number of claims to be paid by a company in any one year is decidedly small, providing the company has exercised ordinary business intelligence in issuing its policies. We know, too, that the number of claims increases each year due to the higher mortality among the then older policy-holders and to the maturing of comparatively short-terms policies such as endowment forms. It naturally follows, and is indeed a fact, that the mortality experience of any well-managed life insurance company is most favorable during its first few years.

The impressive feature of the Asia Life Insurance Company's statement is the definite and ample provision the Company has made right at the start to cover its expected mortality losses. In addition to its capital and surplus of $231,304.54, which in itself is a substantial guarantee to its insureds, the company sets aside a policy holders' reserve fund of $95,516.46 to cover the payment of claims. The soundness of any life insurance plan is determined by the establishment of such a reserve fund by the insuring company. This deserves a further word of explanation.

INSURANCE IN U. S.

The greatest development of the life insurance business has been in the United States, especially during the past generation. At the present time over 40,000,000 policies are in force, aggregating well over $50,000,000,000 insurance and over $750,000,000 is distributed annually in claims. The vastness of these figures can scarcely be comprehended, but they are small compared with what they will be in another generation. Aside from the direct benefits that countless individuals derive from life insurance in the United States, the investment of the accumulated funds of about 250 companies, totaling well over $6,000,000,000 in real estate and various commercial and industrial enterprises, is of inestimable value to the public. It is one of the largest contributing factors to the country's prosperity.

In the United States the public early realised the heavy responsibility that belongs to life insurance companies and in a comparatively short period of time put through regulating laws that have proved to be of most practical value to both the people and the companies. Every State has its Insurance Department and Insurance Commissioner and all companies are required to render complete and detailed annual reports on forms provided by the States, covering every phase of their business. The laws are practically identical in all of the States.

Chief among these provisions is the requirement of the so-called "legal reserve." This means that every company must set aside a stipulated proportion of each annual premium as a policy-holders' reserve fund, to guarantee the payment of claims. This reserve must be in addition to capital and surplus, for no impairment of capital is permitted. It is determined by the most modern methods of actuarial science and has given American life insurance companies a clean record of complete solvency for over a generation. The "legal reserve" system met the severe test of the World War without embarrassment and the still more severe drain of the influenza epidemic in 1918, which snuffed out more lives than were lost on the battlefields of Europe. It has come to be regarded as a standard requirement of safety for a life insurance company.

Among other numerous and wise requirements of American life insurance laws the control of investments deserves mention. American insurance laws are rigid in this respect and limit companies to investments of the utmost security.

TELLS OF DEVELOPMENT

Asked yesterday about the future of the life insurance business in the Far East, W. R. Rice, Vice-President and General Manager of the Asia Life Insurance Company, had the following to say:

"Our Company was formed less than two years ago to meet the very evident need and demand of both foreigners and Chinese for sound life insurance on the most modern and scientific basis and at the lowest rates consistent with safety. The directors immediately decided to place the Company under the strict supervision of American insurance laws as a guarantee to the public of our integrity of purpose. They further decided to adopt the up-to-date methods of life insurance practice used by the most progressive companies in the world and to perfect an insurance organisation that will give a really valuable service to the public. Having constantly in mind that the Company's chief source of income is the premiums paid by our insured, for which we are strictly accountable, we have adopted a conservative and economical policy of management that cannot fail to strengthen our position each year.

"In order to obtain the distribution of risks necessary for safety, we early established our branch offices in Peking, Hankow and Canton, and arranged for efficient agency representation in many of the leading cities throughout China. During the past month an additional branch was opened in Tsinanfu. All four branches are under Foreign Management. This organisation, already considerable for so short a time, is being rapidly developed and it is our a'm to be able to render direct service in every section of China within another year or two.

"Our intimate contact with a large element of the Chinese and foreign public during this past year and a half has convinced us that our original surmise was correct. There is indeed a great need for life insurance in China and an increasing realisation of the value of protection. The fact that our Company wrote over $4,000,000 insurance during 1922 is an indication of the public's response to our straight-forward proposition.

SEES GREAT FIELD

"Life Insurance is one of the most beneficial institutions in the world. Its value in the U.S. may be partly realised from the fact that 85 percent of the estates left to families are life insurance. When you consider what this means in the welfare of women and children, and in furnishing educations, you obtain some idea of the need it can fill in China. Its future growth in the Orient is unlimited, and we feel sure that our Company, through honest and fair dealing with the public, will play a large part in that future.

"It is our aim to make our organisation of increasing public benefit, not only by the insurance facilities that we offer, but by educational propaganda in promotion of thrift and hygiene. The work of this nature carried on by life companies in the United States has been of great value to the people. Furthermore there are opportunities within the organisation for the right type of men, both foreign and Chinese, where real work will be amply rewarded."

Mr. Rice is sailing for the United States on the s.s. President Cleveland on January 25, in the interests of his Company. He stated that he expects to establish collecting agencies there, as the company already has a number of policy-holders resident in the States, and said further that he hopes to perfect certain arrangements that will be of great benefit to the company, and largely increase its facilities for service to its policy-holders.

How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar which possesses a morbid powe of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preservir their teeth at an annual subscr p tion Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly

(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.

(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

You Will Do a Better Day's Work!

—and you will feel fitter and fresher all day—if you begin the day with Sanatogen.

In these days of keen competition, the man who "wins through" is the man who does a better day's work than his competitors.

When you come to analyse it, the quantity and quality of the work you do depends, to a large extent, on the amount of nerve-energy you possess. It is nerve-energy that enables you to make the most of your brains, and supplies the "driving power" essential to success.

Now, Sanatogen definitely increases nerve-energy—does not merely stimulate or excite, but increases it to a remarkable degree. The result is that when you take Sanatogen you do more and better work than you have been been accustomed to do. Nor is this a temporary effect; it continues day by day, week by week.

Dr. Claude L. Wheeler says:—

"The user of Sanatogen is richly rewarded in freedom from langour, a gain of strength and activity, alertness of mind, and an increased resisting-power to diseases"

Begin by Taking Sanatogen Regularly Every Morning with or After Breakfast

This will enable you to acquire that extra nerve-energy which spells success in every business and profession; which gives you a zest and a delight in your work; which makes you keen and concentrated, alert and self confident, and thus gives you the power to realise your ambitions.

Take the first step today, not tomorrow—now not presently. Sanatogen can be obtained of all Chemists and Dispensaries.

Scrapping The Capital Ships

OF the three major sea powers represented at the Washington Conference only Great Britain, a report submitted by Secretary Denby to Congress shows, has gone energetically about the work of dismantling or selling to be broken up capital ships that were condemned by the Naval Treaty. Great Britain was called upon to eliminate from her navy fourteen battleships and six battle cruisers. Their ages ranged from seven to sixteen years. Among the battle cruisers to go were the Lion and Princess Royal of 26,350 tons, armed with 13.5-inch guns and having a speed of 28 knots, ships we should be glad to have in the American navy, which does not now possess a single battle cruiser; the battle cruisers New Zealand, Australia, Inflexible and Indomitable of only slightly less speed and carrying 12-inch guns; and battleships like the Orion, Monarch and Conqueror that had main batteries of 13.5-inch guns, superior to the Florida, Utah, Arkansas and Wyoming, which are to be retained under the terms of the treaty. It appears from Secretary Denby's report that practically all of the excluded British capital ships are already broken up, sold to be dismantled or in course of being rendered unfit for warlike purposes. They have ceased to be units in the British Navy.

Of the fifteen prewar battleships of the United States Navy that were condemned only the long obsolete Maine and Missouri are being broken up. Of the others Secretary Denby says that they are out of commission, except the Connecticut. No steps have been taken to dismantle them. Work on the uncompleted capital ships of the three-year program has been stopped, except in the case of two ships of the powerful West Virginia class that will take the place of the Delaware and North Dakota. Japan is removing guns and turrets, armor and engines of seven condemned battleships and cruisers, and has suspended work on superdreadnoughts which she was not allowed to keep. But the battleships Satsuma, Aki and Settsu have been placed in the fourth reserve—eventually they must be scrapped.

It should be said that neither the United States nor Japan is obliged at this time by the provisions of the Naval Treaty to follow Great Britain's example of making a clean sweep of ships on the excluded list. Article 10 says that the treaty "shall take effect on the date of the deposit of all the ratifications, which shall take place at Washington as soon as possible." France and Italy, the other parties to the treaty, have not ratified. Great Britain is following a rational course in dropping the units named in Secretary Denby's report. The older ships are obsolete and the newer ones are in some professional opinions under the blight of Jutland. If the treaty should not be ratified by France and Italy, it would be advisable for the United States to sell or break up all her ships prohibited by the treaty. There is not one of them that would stand up in a sea fight with a British or a Japanese battle line. Some of them have been obsolete for years.

When those handcart coolies get their mirrors we hope the Council will draft regulations prescribing certain definite times for them to stop on street corners and powder their noses so they won't block traffic during the rush hour.

The Sheik On Ice

The Sunday CHINA PRESS carried a report that a society belle who had insisted on going to Labrador had been kidnapped by the wild Fish Fang tribe of Eskimos to become the wife of their chief. Can you imagine the big scene when the chief of the Fish first shows his Fangs:

"You will!" hissed Nanook of the Fish Fangs, offering her his boots to chew.

"You poor Fish! I'll die first!" replied the heroic girl, her spirit unbroken despite the amount of whale blubber and gumdrops she had consumed.

That same night Nanook strangled a polar bear to death because it slipped on the ice while doing its favorite trick, spinning on its nose.

NORTH-EASTERN CHIHLI

The outstanding event of the year was the fracas between the Chihli and Fengtien forces, which isolated this region from the world for almost two months, disrupting rail, post and telegraph service, and bringing all business to a complete standstill. Foreign women and children at Changli and other exposed points were ordered in to Tientsin by the Consuls. Chunliangch'eng, K'aiping, Lanhsien, Changli, Chinwangtao and Shanhaikuan were in succession the headquarters of the retreating Fengtien forces.

Changli received her baptism of fire on the day the Fengtien forces left, the closely pursuing Chihli army dropping some 25 shells near the railroad station, puncturing several buildings but injuring no one. Their entry was preceeded by a half hour of rifle fire, but again no one was hurt. Changli then served as aerial headquarters from which bombing raids were conducted on Shanhaikuan and the Fengtien lines, seven aeroplanes being stationed here at one time.

The war finished in a burst of ten days and nights continuous fighting over the country between Chinwangtao and Shanhaikuan, ending in a statemate with men and ammunition exhausted on both sides. The courage, tenacity and skill displayed by both sides in this battle, in the opinion of competent foreign observers, far exceeded any previous exhibition by Chinese soldiers since the advent of Western military science into China; and are indicative of what the Chinese can be expected to do when properly trained, equipped and officered.

The Fengtien general proved himself an even better diplomat than fighter, and certainly did not get the short end of the peace terms, which were arranged aboard a foreign battleship in Chinwangtao harbor. He was allowed to arrive into his Manchurian domain, taking all his war paraphernalia and all the railroad equipment and rolling-stock he could lay his hands on, with only his word as a gentleman pledged to return same; his enemies agreeing to retire beyond Lanhsien, leaving a no-man's land about 75 miles in width.

PRESENT STATUS

Both sides have observed that part of the terms regarding the stationing of troops in the neutral strip. The 15th Division of Chihli troops, which bore the brunt of the fiercest fighting, is divided between Lanhsien, Ch'ienanhsien, Yungp'ingfu and Laot'ing, with headquarters at Lanhsien. The troops are for the most part orderly, but are not allowed arms or cartridges except when on drill. As most of them have received no salary for the past ten months, they have no recourse but to "sponge" on the merchants of the city in which they happened to be placed. For this purpose the Merchants' Association of Ch'ienanhsien has had to raise during the past six months over $20,000, and in Laot'ing over $10,000. The soldiers must be fed or they will loot: and the worst feature is that there is no end in sight.

This division of the railroad is said to be running on about 20 percent of the normal amount of rolling-stock, the balance being still in Chang Tso-lin's hands. Within the past few days it is reported that the Fengtien soldiers are digging trenches within 15 li of Shanhaikuan. The general feeling is that almost anything may break loose in the Spring.

Fair to excellent crops were the rule this year. Prices have risen on almost all commodities an average of 25 percent, and there is much talk of hard times and high prices; yet it is noticeable that everyone seems to have money to spend. At the semi-annual fairs this Fall, prices were high beyond all record, yet things sold like hot-cakes.

The abnormally high rate of exchange has served somewhat to offset the increase in prices. The normal rate of exchange is about 130 coppers for one Mexican dollar. It has been gradually increasing all the past year, till at present it fluctuates around 190, reaching as high as 196. The reason is said to be the deterioration of recent copper issues.

A fruit cannery has been opened at Changli, under the management of some wideawake Tientsin business men, and is doing a good business. They expect to later on undertake their own fruit production, having sent several students to America to prepare along these lines.

A very serviceable road of pounded dirt surfaced with line, was constructed by the local authorities at Lanhsien, from the railroad station to the city, a distance of 5 li. Rickshas have been introduced at both Lanhsien and Changli.

Strike troubles were more prevalent and serious than any year heretofore. Railroads and mines were seriously affected by well organised strikes, and no satisfactory method of dealing with such matters has as yet been worked out. The inflamable quality of Chinese labor is a profound menace to all future operations on a large scale, which cannot be ignored or lightly considered.

EDUCATIONAL

The most hopeful sign in China today is the insatiable thirst of Chinese youth for education, and the willingness of parents to sacrifice for this end. On the whole the Government schools are doing excellent work, especially in the lower primary grades. The higher primary and middle schools are not so efficient, the graduates from the Government higher primary schools as a rule having to spend from one to two years in one of the mission higher primary schools before they can qualify for the mission middle school. Mathematics and English are usually the weak points.

All Government schools have had to remain closed at Lanhsien during the past ten months, as the buildings are occupied by soldiers. The College of Engineering at T'ongshan is closed at present by order of the Minister of Communications, because of supposed Bolshevik tendencies of some of the students. Now that there is a new cabinet it will probably be reopened with the new year.

The independent Middle School establish at Shanhaikuan as a memorial to his mother by General T'ien Chung-yu, military Governor of Shantung, is expending and developing in a most satisfactory way, no expense being spared by the generous patron for enlarged grounds and more adequate equipment.

The Changli mission middle school has the largest enrollment and the strongest faculty in its history. The Methodists have also opened an Agricultural School at Changli and an Industrial School at Lanhsien. The former is being directed by Mr. C. F. Chou, a Graduate of Illinois State University, College of Agriculture. Considerable experimental work was done the past season and elementary class work begun. This Fall an enthusiastic class of 20 boys of second and third year middle school grade have taken up the four year course. Many of them are from the famine regions of Shantung and Chihli, and it is hoped that after graduation they will be able to do some valuable famine prevention work in their home sections.

The Industrial School has 30 boys enrolled, all having finished the four year of lower primary work. They now take up a five year course, during which they will finish the three years of higher primary work, and in addition become proficient in some trade. Cloth, towel and sock weaving are the courses offered at present, the boys working

UNZEN PARK DECLARED SAFE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Dear Sir: In connection with the recent earthquakes in the Shimabara district of Nagasaki Prefecture, Dr. F. Omori, Professor of Seismology in the Imperial University of Tokio, who has visited the district and made full investigations, has sent us his conclusions as per enclosed notes.

As you are aware the famous Unzen Park is in the Shimabara Peninsula and is under our direct control. We shall be much obliged if you will kindly publish Dr. Omori's report in your valuable paper for the benefit of the general public and especially of those of your readers who are acquainted with the health and summer resort. Thanking you in advance,

Yours faithfully,
NAGASAKI PREFECTURAL GOVERNMENT.
Nagasaki, Jan. 13, 1923.

(ENCLOSURE)

(Notes by Dr. F. Omori, Professor of Seismology in the Imperial University of Tokio.)

Introductory: The northwestern part of Kyushu forms one of the districts of minimum seismic activity in Japan, and the two strong earthquakes on December 8, 1922, though they were the severest felt in the Shimabara peninsula and the vicinity of Nagasaki since 1792, belong to the category of small destructive shocks. The panic was considerable, but the seismic damage was comparatively small, the total casualties being 25 killed and 22 wounded. At the meteorological observatory of Nagasaki the amount of the maximum earthquake motion was 1½ inches, and the seismic force in the city was only about half so great as in Tokio on the occasion of the strong shock on April 26, 1922, whose origin was situated at the entrance of Tokio bay.

Limit of the seismic intensity: Non-volcanic earthquakes, or those occurring in regions distant from volcanoes, are often very great. On the other hand, volcanic earthquakes, or those occurring from centers situated under, or in the immediate neighborhood of, an active, dormant, or dead volcano, are limited in intensity and are not excessively violent. Now the earthquakes in and about the Shimabara peninsula, composed of the volcanic mountain masses of Fugen and others of the Unzen group, are to be regarded as seismic disturbances of volcanic nature. The first severe earthquake on the 8th, at 1:50 a.m., which originated at the south base of Mount Fugen, near the villages of Kita-Arima and Nishi-Ariye (25 miles to the east slightly south of Nagasaki), was, according to the tromometer observations in Tokio, of a magnitude almost exactly equal to that of the strongest shock which attended the great eruptive activity of Sakurajima in 1914, and not smaller than the earthquakes originating from Asama and other volcanoes. Thus, the shock in question may be taken as indicating the strongest limit of seismic disturbances likely to occur in the Shimabara peninsula. The second severe shock, on the 8th, at 11:02 a.m., whose origin was shifted to the southwest base of Mount Fugen, was only about half so strong as the 1st. Even in the case of occurrence in future of more or less strong earthquakes from some other points in the Shimabara districts, the intensity of motion would be much smaller.

Character of eruptive activity of Fugen: Different volcances are characterised by their proper habits with regard to their eruptive activity, and it does not, of course, follow that each volcano makes great outbursts like that of Sakurajima in 1914. Explosive eruptions, like that of Bandai-san in 1888, in which a portion of the mountain mass is broken and causes a tremendous volcanic avalanche, are violent manifestations of terrible volcanic forces. The volcanic activity of Unzen-dake, whose present eruptive forces are centered at Mount Fugen, is entirely devoid of an explosive character, and, consisted, both in the outbursts of 1657 and 1792, of quiet outflowing of lava from near the summit of the latter along valleys in the northeast directions to the lengths of 2 and 0.7 miles respectively. Future eruptions from the Fugen, should any occur, must be similarly of a very gentle nature and prove entirely harmless.

Mae-Yama: This is the old dead volcanic mass situated near the town of Shimabara, 2 miles to the northeast of the central Fugen peak. On May 21, 1792, strong earthquakes produced enormous landslips on the southeastern side of Mae-Yama; the huge volume of the detached masses of rocks and earth, precipitated into the inland sea between Hizen and Higo, resulted in a terrible tsunami (tidal wave) which made considerable havoc along the coasts of the two provinces. At the present day there remain no more conditions rendering possible the production of a gigantic landslip from the Mae-Yama, which now stands much more inland than before. At present, therefore, there is no danger of the occurrence of a tsunami.

Unzen Park: At the Unzen Park, where the ground is hard, the earthquakes were felt less intensely than at the villages in the lower parts of the peninsula, and the hotels and other buildings have sustained no serious seismic damage. The solfataras were not affected, and the temperature of the most powerful of these, namely, the Seishichi and the Hachiman jigoku, was found to be 98° C. (208° F.), the boiling temperature corresponding to the height of the Park. Of course there is no chance of any eruption taking place from the Unzen Park, whose solfataras are simply remains of volcanic activity dead since ages ago, and visitors to the Park have nothing to fear from the consequences of the recent seismic activity in the Shimabara peninsula.

Spent $6,000,000 In Famine Relief In China Last Year

Over $6,000,000 was expended in relief in famine stricken districts in China last year according to the report made at the first annual China International Famine Relief Commission, representing seven committees, which is now in session in Hankow.

The Commission was organised in the fall of 1921 by combining those provincial committees which had been formed for famine relief work with the purpose not only of conserving the experience gained in the past great famine but more especially to have established a permanent international organisation reaching out into all the provinces which would be qualified in times of future emergency to bring relief quickly, efficiently and honestly; to investigate conditions and determine what actually constitutes a famine, and through its Sub-Committees to promote those conservancy projects which must be developed if this great scourge is ever to be controlled or averted.

MALLORY IS SECRETARY

The first annual report was presented by Walter H. Mallory who has recently been appointed to succeed Mr. D. W. Edwards as Executive Secretary. Mr. Mallory has had wide experience in relief work in Russia, the Balkans and the Near East. The Chinese version was handled by Mr. Y. S. Djang, Assistant Executive Secretary, and previously Secretary of the Tientsin Committee.

The report show that not only has the Commission, through its Provincial Committees, distributed the unexpended balances of the preceeding year, but that the Maritime Customs Surtax funds as well as grants from the American Advisory Committee and additional funds raised locally for relief in Chekiang have all passed through its hands.

Work was carried out in 15 provinces and the policy of giving relief by labor was followed with the result that not only were the sufferers carried over that period of disaster, but their labor during these month has been utilised in the building of dykes and roads and in effecting those improvements in the control of China's waterways which will assist in averting future floods.

WORK OF COMMISSION

The Commission, through its head office which is located in Peking is designed:—

1. To act as an information bureau on famine conditions and needs of different centers.
2. To establish the relationship between Provincial Committee and the Central Government.
3. To arrange for special Government Railway and Customs priviieges.
4. To provide engineers and relief workers.
5. To purchase grain.
6. To approve and recommend appeals to the Government Boards and public bodies.

The Treasurer's report was presented by the joint Treasurers D. W. Edwards and Rev. Liu Fang and showed that the following grants have been made during the past fiscal year:

China In 1922

half a day and studying half a day. They have been carefully selected from homes so poor that there was no possibility of the boys proceeding further with their education without this aid.

RELIGIOUS

The native religions and superstitions seem to have about as strong a hold as ever on the lives of the common people. But they are being gradually undermined by the spread of education, many of the teachers and students in Government schools admitting that they no longer believe in them, and in fact believe in no religion.

Education alone can break the spell of ignorant heathenism on the millions of China; Christian education alone can save them from drifting into materialistic atheism and agnosticism. Recently a census of the 5,000 students in the Imperial University at Tokio revealed the fact that 4,500 reported themselves as agnostic or atheistic. More strenuous efforts must be made if the awakening mind of Young China is to be saved from a like fate.

There is practically no anti-foreign feeling in this region. Such as may occasionally appear is usually due to ignorance of Chinese nature and the wrong approach. The foreigner armed with a smile, and if possible a joke or two, is far safer than one arrayed like a Fengtien brave with a pistol on each side and a knife in front.

There is no opposition to the preaching of Christianity. In fact a Gospel message from either a foreign or Chinese preached is usually welcomed as an interesting diversion, and a good speaker can almost invariably secure the intellectual assent of his hearers to the truths he presents. Indeed, one sometimes wishes there were a little more opposition, as the easy-going tolerance and ready assent to any reasonable doctrine sometimes tempts one to preach a sermon on "His Majesty the Devil," in order to see if the same intellectual allegiance would not be accorded.

It is true that the schools and hospitals, which have usually gone hand in hand with the preaching of the Gospel, have made the strongest appeal to the naturally practical Chinese mind. That they have availed themselves largely of these advantages is shown by the fact that something like 80 percent of the young men holding clerical and similar positions with the railroad and business firms, secured part of the whole of their education in mission schools. This fine body of intelligent Christian men is a tremendous potential Christian asset; but they are surrounded with many temptations, and like some Christians in the home-lands, many of them are "not working at it very hard."

GENERAL

The use of opium is increasing, and morphine floods the country. Many inland towns have Japanese as permanent residents, directing the transportation and distribution of the drug. The Chinese universally execrate the Japanese for this damnable trade, but nevertheless pocket all the profits they can make out of it, and carefully refrain from any public or official denunciation. The moral supineness of Chinese officials and gentry in this connection is doubly disgusting when one considers that it is with their avowed enemies the Japanese whom they are co-operating to ruin thousands of their fellow nationals.

Foot binding is almost as universally practiced as ever. Outside of Christian schools one rarely sees an unbound foot on little girl or grown woman throughout all this region. Recently the Lanhsien magistrate held a public meeting to discuss ways and means of abating this evil; but before any action could be taken on even a fair discussion heard, the meeting broke into an uproar, the magistrate beating a hasty retreat through the rear door.

Early marriages are perhaps slightly less popular than formerly, though still the common practice. (The brightest boy in the Lanhsien mission higher primary school is only 14 years of age, has been living with his wife for three years, and moreover is the son of idiotic parents, a problem for eugenists.) The queue has disappeared from youthful heads, though it is still to be seen on many older men and not a few of the middle aged.

The heaten burial and marriage customs, observance of lucky days and the requirements of "feng shui" in general, are observed as religiously as ever by young and old, ignorant and educated (excepting of course Christians). It is a strange and pathetic anomaly that intelligent, often educated men and women, who reject the false superstitions underlying most of these practices, in time of trouble still resort to them. Increased education and broadened outlook will free them from this pathetic bondage; but what an opportunity for "the expulsive power of a new affection."

China is moving forward and not backward. Her progress must be watched and measured like the advance of the tide on the beach, not by the attack and retreat of each tiny wave, but by the net gain shown after the lapse of some minutes or hours. As an intelligent observer remarked, "You can't run through a Chinese street without knocking someone down." Progress in China is necessarily a slow process, and we should not attempt to measure it with a smaller yardstick than a year.

Politically and officially there was little or no apparent advance made in this district during the past twelve months. Commercially and economically there has been steady growth and progress. While outwardly there is little change apparent in the religious situation, yet there are many signs of deterioration in the hold of the ancient superstitions on the lives of the people, and much encouraging interest in the message of a new, vital faith. It is in the growing appetite for education, and the marked improvements and additions in this field, that one finds the greatest cause for rejoicing and the surest ground for optimism.
